PREFACE

I began researching the first edition of this book in 1989 and it was published in 1991. At the time my only source of information for the movements of aircraft was the "Mails and Shipping" column in The Times newspaper. Whilst the information obtained enabled me to provide at least some details of each service, my listing of almost all the services was far from complete because The Times did not publish a comprehensive record of movements.

Later in the 1990s I discovered a far better source was Lloyd's Daily List, a complete run of which is held in the Guildhall Library, London. Having made the discovery, I made many visits to the library over a period of two or three years to go through each edition from 1931 to September 1939. As well as recording a far greater number of calls for each service, the publication more often than not provided times of arrivals and departures of the aircraft. I believe the addition of times to the listing has greatly improved its value. Whilst Lloyd's Daily List recorded G.M.T. times, in my listing I have converted them to L.S.T. (Local Standard Time) because they can then be compared with times shown on arrival or departure postmarks without the need for conversion.

Whilst Lloyd's Daily List was a very good source of information, it did leave an occasional gap, but around the year 2000 I discovered the perfect source. This was Imperial Airways aircraft movement charts which were held at British Airways Archive at Hatton Cross (it has now moved to Speedbird Way, Harmondsworth). On each of the large charts, measuring approximately 40 by 33 inches, one month's aircraft movements are recorded in graph form with the days of the month on the X axis and places of call on the Y axis. They provide a complete record for every flight but unfortunately the Archive holds charts only from January 1934 onwards and all the charts for 1937 are missing. On the upside, the charts for September 1939 to June 1940 have enabled me to include a record of services during this period for the first time.

When there was a delay to a service it was recorded in a standard form on the charts. Six categories were used which were: Mechanical trouble; Aircraft trouble; Weather delay; Wireless trouble; Miscellaneous delay and Aerodrome unserviceable. Under the listing of a service which experienced delay, readers will see that I have added a note giving one of the six reasons. Only very infrequently is any further information provided on the charts in the form of a pencil note reading "Train late" or "Darkness" for example.

Apart from the addition of services from September 1939 to June 1940, this edition contains for the first time a record of a second weekly Imperial Airways service from Salisbury to Johannesburg which operated from April to December 1934; the Croydon to Brindisi service which operated in the summer of 1935 and the Salisbury to Kisumu temporary overland service which operated in June 1937.

Also included is a comprehensive run of copies of Imperial Airways timetables for the African services and, for the first time, tables of air mail rates which applied in countries on Imperial Airways' Africa route and also from some European countries to African destinations.

The first edition of this book contained a record of the West Africa services which operated from 1936 to 1939. Because this edition has reached 396 pages without the inclusion of these services, I have decided to produce a separate volume of the West Africa services and this will include the previously missing services from September 1939 to June 1940. Also due to the large number of pages I have not included illustrations of covers.

There were many errors in the first edition which I have corrected in this one. I hope readers will appreciate that thirty five years ago there was far less information available than there is now. Indeed, it was from just the very small amount of data available to me back then that I was able to work out the flight numbers which are referred to so widely today.

Peter Wingent.

Between Khartoum and Kareima, after flying through a sandstorm, the starboard engine of the City of Birmingham lost oil pressure causing the crank shaft to break and the engine to seize up. City of Salonica was flown from Khartoum and continued the service to Wadi Halfa. There it was taken over by City of Karachi sent down from Cairo.

Flight No. AN 3; AN 4 & AN 5 (combined due to delays)

Mwanza	dep.	-	24 Mar.	C.Khart.
Kisumu	arr.	p.m.	24 Mar.	C.Khart.

During the flight to Kisumu a piston ring broke resulting in City of Khartoum being out of action after arrival at Kisumu.

(Source: "The Aeroplane," 8 April 1931 edition).

With no replacement aircraft available, the East African mail did not proceed but awaiting air mail at Khartoum was despatched from there via surface route on 29th (arrived U.K. 8 April). Later air mail from Khartoum and points north was flown as follows:

Khartoum	dep.	a.m.	30 Mar.	C.Well.	3 days late
Wadi Halfa	arr.	13.48	30 Mar.	C.Well.	3 days late
Wadi Halfa	dep.	06.15	31 Mar.	C.Well.	3 days late
Cairo	arr.	-	31 Mar.	C.Well.	3 days late

A second flight carried mail posted at Khartoum up to 3 April:

Khartoum	dep.	-	04 Apr.	C.Karachi	8 days late
Cairo	arr.	-	05 Apr.	C.Karachi	8 days late

All carried Alexandria ~ Croydon via Eastern service IW104:

Alexandria	dep.	05.20	06 Apr.	C.Athens	8 days late
Athens	arr.	-	06 Apr.	C.Athens	8 days late
Croydon	arr.	-	10 Apr.	?	8 days late

East African mail remained at Mwanza & Kisumu for one week.

City of Salonika then departed with two weeks' mail:

Mwanza	dep.	-	31 Mar.	C.Salon.	7 days late
Kisumu	arr.	-	31 Mar.	C.Salon.	7 days late
Kisumu	dep.	a.m.	01 Apr.	C.Salon.	7 days late

Entebbe	dep.	-	01 Apr.	C.Birm.	7 days late
Juba	arr.	-	01 Apr.	C.Birm.	7 days late

City of Salonika broke down at Port Bell and relief aircraft City of Birmingham broke down at Juba. Finally, City of Khartoum was repaired and departed Mwanza with three weeks' mail:

Mwanza	dep.	-	07 Apr.	C.Khart.	14 days late
Kisumu	arr.	p.m.	07 Apr.	C.Khart.	14 days late
Kisumu	dep.	a.m.	08 Apr.	C.Khart.	14 days late

- 1) The summer timetable was not introduced officially until the next week's service (AS 12). The new European route from Croydon to Athens was via Paris – Basle – Genoa – Naples and Corfu. The arrival of the City of Manchester at Basle indicates this service followed the new route, probably as a trial.
- 2) Unusually, the City of Athens operated the service from Athens to Mwanza.

NORTHBOUND SERVICES

The Post Office Daily List, 23 April 1931, states that the India mail (via IW106) which was flown from Alexandria to Athens on 20 April by City of Athens, was expected to arrive in London on the 23rd. This provides the arrival date for the AN6 mail as it was also carried by City of Athens on the same day.

Flight No. AN 7

This service was scheduled to depart Mwanza on 21 April but because there was no aircraft available, mail from all places south of Khartoum remained at the P.Os. until carried by AN 8.

Service AN 7 only operated from Khartoum, as follows:

Khartoum	dep.	04.00	25 Apr.	C. Birm.	1 day late

This service was scheduled to leave Mwanza on 18 Aug. Lloyd's List shows departures from both Mwanza and Kisumu only on 11 and 25 Aug. It is possible East African mail posted between 12 and 16 Aug. was sent by surface to Butiaba to connect with City of Swanage but this is unconfirmed. Any mail so despatched would have been flown by AN23, as above, and arrived Croydon 27 August.

1) During the flight from Alexandria to Mirabella, one of Satyrus' engines ceased functioning. A spare part was brought from Alexandria by Scipio which then took over the service.

2) City of Manchester landed at Beauvais due to reports of fog and bad weather in the English Channel.

The detailed record of this service comes from the diary of Mr. R.F. Mayer, Chairman of the East Africa Standard, and was published in Imperial Airways Gazette, February 1932 edition, pp.2-3.

First regular southbound service to South Africa.

Bulawayo Chronicle of 29 Jan. says City of Arundel broke a flying wire after departure from Khartoum and returned. The Cape Times of 29 Jan. says this happened after leaving Juba.

A severe storm made it impossible to land at Mpika and instead the City of Baghdad made a forced landing at Shiwa Ngandu.

At Broken Hill the City of Baghdad was taken off the service to search for a missing northbound 'plane (City of Delhi) and a Puss Moth of the Rhodesian Aviation Co. was chartered to operate the service to Johannesburg.

Lloyd's List, 11 March 1932: "The Imperial Airways landplane which was compelled to make a forced landing a few miles south of Wadi Halfa on Wednesday, owing to a duststorm, was the City of Arundel (G-EBOZ). The machine was carrying the Central African mails, not the mails from Cape Town, and had left Khartoum the same morning, having taken over from the City of Coventry (G-AAEJ). and yesterday, after receiving fresh supplies of fuel, she took off again and reached Wadi Halfa." (bold, underlined text for emphasis, not in original report).

All the mail, having arrived at Cairo on 11 March in either Apollo or City of Arundel, was flown as follows:

Due to a partially blocked fuel pipe to one engine whilst flying to Dodoma, the pilot of the City of Karachi turned and made a forced landing at Kidji. The aircraft sustained a broken propeller and a damaged wing so passengers and mail were sent by train to Dodoma and were conveyed from there by the City of Baghdad which had been sent down from Nairobi. [East African Standard, 7 January 1933 edition].

Andromeda departed from Kisumu approximately 7 hours late due to "undercarriage trouble" (I.A. chart) and thus was only able to reach Entebbe on the 11th. Very unusually, Andromeda operated the service to Khartoum where the I.A. chart shows a miscellaneous delay at Juba which was probably due to Horsa being delayed at Kareima on service AS342.

Details of the Alexandria ~ Brindisi section are from the log book of the pilot: Capt. H.W.C. Alger. It also shows that Castor flew back from Brindisi to Athens on the 16th instead of continuing to Marseilles as scheduled and thus it is likely that the mail was forwarded by train from Brindisi to Paris.

1) This was the last Imperial Airways service to depart from Jo'burg. via the overland route before the commencement of flying boat services from Durban via the coastal route.

2) The Mediterranean section of this service operated as follows:
8th June – Castor, on service IW553, broke down at Crete and Cassiopeia, on AN452, flew from Alex. to Rome, dropped her African mail then returned to Crete to pick up Castor's Eastern mail (flew to So'ton. on 10th).

9th June – Capella flew So'ton. to Rome, picked up Cassiopeia's African mail, then flew back to Southampton.

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

Dear Bell,

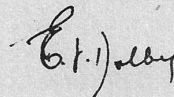

Empire Service Schedules.

Acting on instructions from the Air Ministry, we are forthwith changing unofficially the schedules of the Empire services so as to revert to a three-day transit time between the United Kingdom and Alexandria in both directions.

As from 1st May outward services will leave Poole at 10.00 hours (B.S.T.) and will make Marseilles the first night-stop. The second day's run will be Marseilles-Athens and the third Athens-Alexandria. Thus the outward bound flying-boat services, including feeders, will operate east and south of Alexandria one day later than shown in the Summer timetable.

In the reverse direction, services leaving Alexandria as from 1st May (DN.265 is the first) will make the first night-stop Athens, the second day's run Athens-Biscarosse, and Biscarosse-Poole on the third day. Thus all homeward bound flying-boat services will arrive Poole at approximately 11.00 (B.S.T.) on the day after that shown in the Summer timetable.

Yours sincerely,

E.P. Bell, Esq.,
